Department: Engineering | Location: Floor 3
Contact: x6102

Issue Description:
I just got back from a 3-week vacation and now I can't log in. It keeps telling me my password is expired and I have to change it, but it won't let me change it from the login screen. I haven't logged in since the end of January. Please help, I have to get into my dev environment.

Business Impact:
Sprint deadline Friday. User is lead developer on payment processing module.

2.) Search for "mgarcia" (Maria Garcia) and click her to select her.

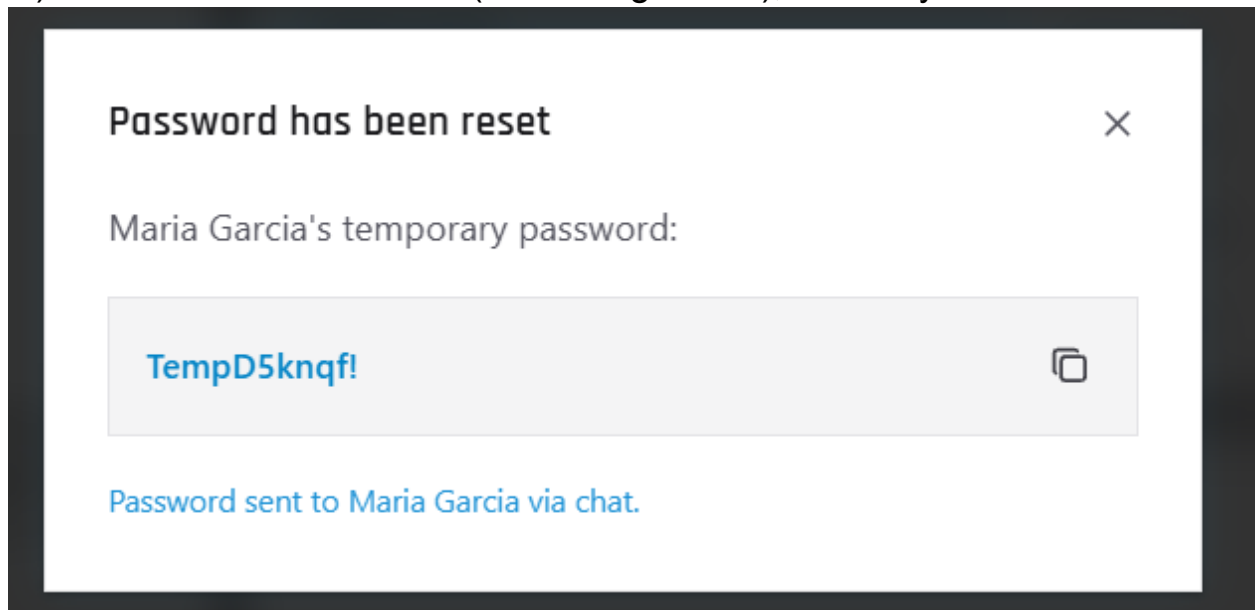

3.) In the verification panel below her details, send a verification code to confirm her identity.

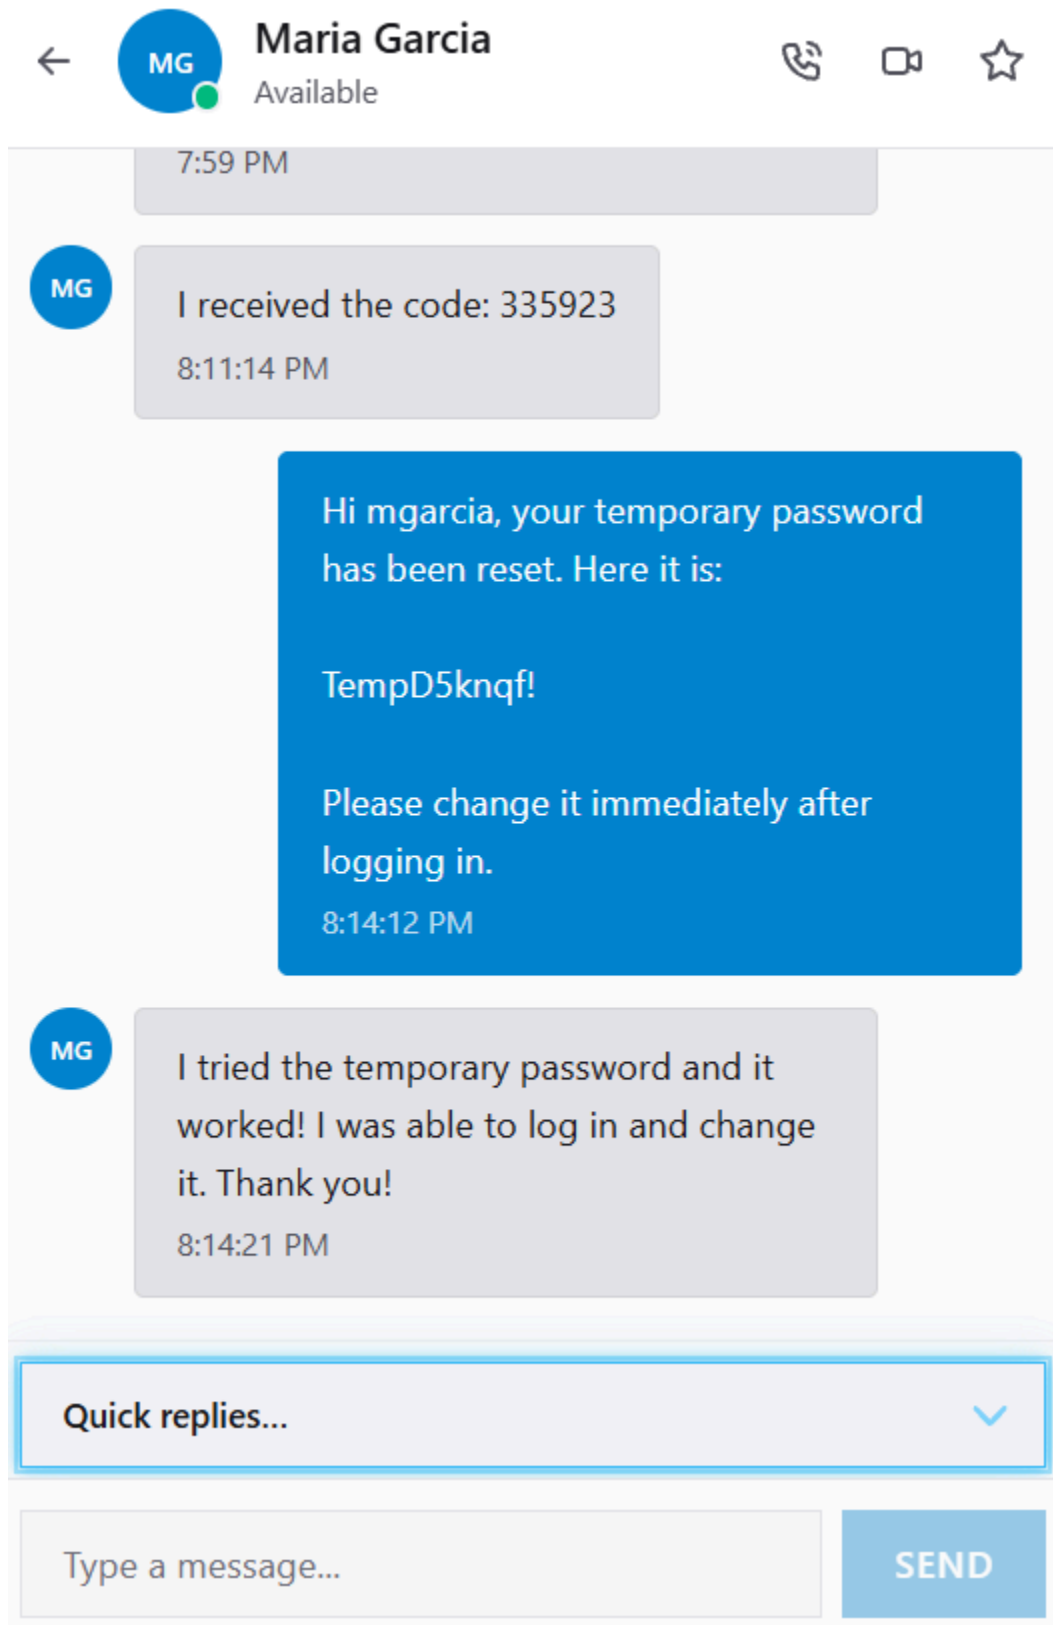

4.) Once verified, click "Reset Password" for a temporary password.

6.) Tell her to change it at first login.

Summary

When a password expires during extended absence, users cannot change it from the login screen because they need to authenticate first. The solution is to reset their password to a temporary one, which they can then change after logging in. Always communicate temporary passwords through secure channels like Team Chat or phone - never email.
